Dear Applicant:

It is the goal of the Department of Neighborhood & Development Services to provide adequate public notification for development items. Following is a list of required items to include with your rezoning, subdivision, OPD, special exception, or variance applications. It is important to conform to these requests to prevent any delays in the process.

A list of addresses must accompany every application for rezoning, subdivision, special exceptions and variances. This list must include all property addresses and the name and address of all property owners within 300' of the proposed site, including public ways. This list must be submitted with the information noted on the application form as an excel file. Property and address information is available at the Johnson County Auditor's Office located at 913 S. Dubuque Street.

Planning staff will post a sign at the time an application is filed. The sign must remain until the application is approved or denied. Larger sites will require one sign for every 200' of frontage on each street adjacent to the site. These signs will contain general information regarding the application and will provide a phone number for persons to contact Planning staff with questions regarding the application.

Planning staff will be responsible for removing the signs. If the applicant notices the sign has been removed or damaged between the time of application and final approval or denial of the request, the City of Iowa City Planning staff should be notified.

A copy of the Iowa City's GOOD NEIGHBORHOOD POLICY will be provided to every applicant at the time of application. This policy has been developed to help create more opportunities for early and more effective citizen participation in both major and minor projects and encourages an applicant's participation beyond current legal requirements for notification.

If you have any additional comments or concerns about these changes, please contact our department at 356-5230.

Sincerely,

Janet Dvorsky, Administrative Secretary
Department of Neighborhood & Development Services

Zoning is the tool by which local government can control urban form by specifying the building use, size, and placement on a property. A rezoning is a process that changes the zoning of a property or group of properties. The City Council makes land-use and zoning decisions for Iowa City after receiving a recommendation from the Planning and Zoning Commission.

What happens in the rezoning process?

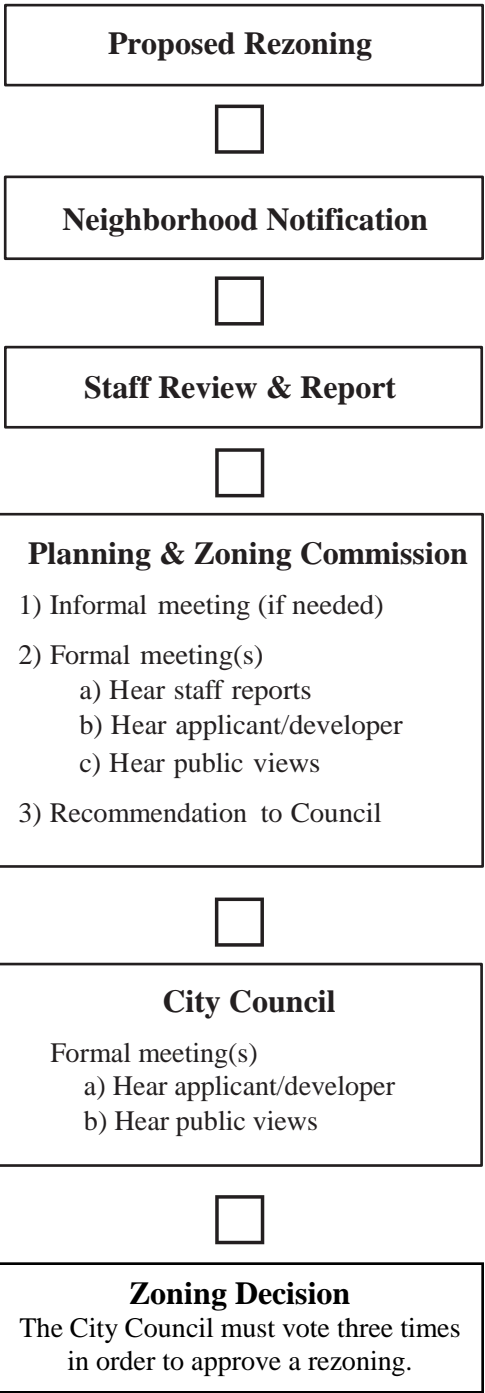

A change in zoning will typically affect the density, intensity, or permitted use of a property. The City’s Comprehensive Plan, compatibility with surrounding zones, and adequacy of city infrastructure and services are all factors considered in determining if a rezoning is appropriate.

Public input is important in this process, so with any request for a rezoning, the public is notified by a number of means. When a rezoning application has been submitted, City staff sends notification by letter to all the residents and owners of property located within three hundred (300) feet of the boundaries of the proposed rezoning site. This notice includes information about the request, a City staff contact (name, phone, and email), and the tentative date and location of the Planning and Zoning Commission meeting. A sign is also posted on the property advising the public that a rezoning has been applied for.

Planning and Zoning Commission

The Planning and Zoning Commission reviews applications and staff evaluation/ recommendations for rezoning, street vacations, annexations, and subdivision development; hears opinions from both the general public and property owners affected; and makes recommendations to the City Council. In addition, the Commission makes recommendations on Comprehensive Plan amendments and District Plans. The formal

The Zoning Process

Planning and Zoning meetings are held on the first and third Thursday of each month at 7:00 p.m. in Emma J. Harvat Hall in City Hall.

Work sessions are sometimes held the Monday before the formal Planning and Zoning meetings. The work sessions are a time for Planning and Zoning Commission members to share information and discuss items of business. While the work sessions are open to the public, they are not a time for citizen input. The number of Planning and Zoning meetings where a rezoning is discussed depends upon the complexity of the issues involved.

City Council

The City Council makes final decisions on applications for rezoning, street vacations, annexations, and subdivision development, and the adoption of planning documents. Before making that decision, however, the Council reviews the recommendation from the Planning and Zoning Commission and hears opinions from both the general public and property owners affected.

The formal City Council meetings are typically held on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. at the Emma J. Harvat Hall in City Hall, 410 East Washington Street.

How can I participate in the process?

Public input is important in order for the Planning and Zoning Commission and the City Council to completely understand the issues related to a rezoning request. You can provide comments orally (in person at the formal meetings) or in writing.

Written comments for the Planning and Zoning Commission should be received by the Department of Neighborhood & Development Services no later than Thursday seven days prior to the commission meeting to ensure that they are included in the packet of information. To contact the Planning and Zoning Commission, send an email to planningzoning@iowa-city.org or send a letter addressed to the Commission at 410 East Washington Street, Iowa City IA 52240.

Written correspondence for the City Council must be received by the City Clerk's office by the Wednesday prior to the formal meeting in order to be included in the council packet. To contact the City Council, send an email to council@iowa-city.org or send a letter addressed to the council at 410 East Washington Street, Iowa City IA 52240.

All correspondence submitted after the deadlines listed above will be hand-distributed to the Commission or Council.

Protest of Rezoning

Under Iowa law, if the owners of 20 percent or more of the area located within 200 feet of the proposed rezoning oppose it, the zone change may only occur with a $\frac{3}{4}$ vote (6 out of the 7 members) by City Council. It is necessary to submit a written protest petition to the City no later than the closing of the public hearing before the City Council. Petition forms may be obtained at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall, at 410 East Washington Street.

Petitions should include:

- Notarized signatures and addresses of the protesting property owners.
- Specific objections to the proposed rezoning may be attached to the petition in a separate letter.

Who can sign the petition?

- Property owners within 200 feet of the subject property (An owner list is available at the Department of Neighborhood & Development Services).
- Other concerned citizens can sign a petition, but their names should be submitted separately.

How is the petition filed?

- The petition must be filed with the City Clerk no later than the Wednesday before the public hearing for inclusion in the City Council packet, or the petition may be presented at the hearing itself.

Citizen's Guide to the Rezoning Process

Understanding and Participating in the Process

*City of Iowa City
Neighborhood & Development Services
356-5230*

History and Background

Iowa City's Good Neighbor Program is part of an effort to make the development process run more smoothly between property owners and developers who seek zoning and related changes, and the neighborhoods that may be affected by those changes. The Good Neighbor Program is not a requirement, but rather a recommended approach that encourages proactive dialogue between property owners, developers, and neighbors that may help identify and resolve issues before the project is reviewed by the Planning and Zoning Commission or the Board of Adjustment.

For minor projects, such as a yard setback reduction, the approach may be as simple as knocking on neighbors' doors to discuss the proposed project with them. For a rezoning or subdivision, it may be appropriate to hold a neighborhood meeting or open house to present the project and invite questions and comments from your neighbors.

While the Good Neighbor Program does not guarantee specific outcomes, answering neighbors' questions and hearing their concerns or suggestions may provide the opportunity to developers/applicants to address concerns or objections before the project is reviewed in a public forum. This can minimize controversy and delays when a project is reviewed by the Board of Adjustment, Planning and Zoning Commission, or the City Council.

Helpful Tips for a Good Neighbor Meeting

▼ What information can you provide that neighbors will find useful?

- Background information including a description of your project and the public process it must go through.
- Site plans, elevations, models, aerial photos, drawings, etc. This will help them visualize the changes you wish to make.
- Information or other resources that discuss the zoning or land development process. The Neighborhood Outreach Coordinator can provide you with this information or is available at www.icgov.org/goodneighbor ▼ View it from their perspective: How will neighbors see your project?

- Put yourself in the place of the people who surround your property. Will they view your project as an enhancement or unexpected change?
- How might your project impact traffic or pedestrian safety in the area?
- Does your project enhance or complement existing neighborhood character or does it contrast with what surrounds it?

- Will your project alter the natural landscape, impact views, etc.?
- Might your project reduce the sense of privacy for a neighboring property owner?

▼ Ways to respond to concerns

- Listen and be respectful—give people the chance to be heard.
- Focus on identifying problems. This meeting is a chance for you to gather input that may be useful to you in getting your project through the review process. The issues that your neighbors raise are often the same issues that may be raised by the Planning and Zoning Commission or the Board of Adjustment.
- Be open to options that could be reasonable or affordable ways to alleviate or address problems.
- Resolving problems at the meeting is not necessary, but it may be helpful to identify areas where there is some flexibility in your plans.
- Know that you won't necessarily be able to please everyone, but that you are providing an opportunity for dialogue. The neighbors will appreciate your effort and the opportunity to share their views.

*Good Neighbor meetings are NOT required as part of the review process in Iowa City but they are strongly encouraged in most instances. If you state that you will or have participated in the program, the following steps must be followed by the applicant:

- Meeting facilities located as close to the subject property and neighbors as possible. The Neighborhood Outreach Coordinator can make suggestions and final arrangements in most cases.
- Good Neighbor meeting notice reviewed by City staff prior to distribution. The Neighborhood Outreach Coordinator will ensure that it is reviewed/approved and be responsible for sending it on to representatives of impacted neighborhood associations for their distribution.
- Meeting notice sent by applicant to all property owners within 300' of the subject property by applicant and sent out not less than 7 days prior to Good Neighbor meeting date.
- Good Neighbor Meeting occurs no less than 7 days prior to the scheduled board/commission meeting to enable adequate time to provide input.
- Good Neighbor meeting attended by a City staff representative if necessary. Staff will be available as a resource to respond to questions related to process, schedule, and zoning, etc. Staff can be arranged by the Neighborhood Outreach Coordinator.
- Summary Report for Good Neighbor Meeting completed by applicant and submitted prior to board/commission review. A fill-in form of the Summary Report is available at www.icgov.org/goodneighbor.
